

ABSTRACT

A method for monitoring the temperature of a biochemical reaction is disclosed. The method effects the reaction in the presence of a fluorescently labeled DNA probe which comprises a double stranded region which denatures at a predetermined temperature. The fluorescent label is arranged so that a detectable signal is generated upon denaturation of the probe.